This 23,362 acre park offers many activities, such as camping, boating, fishing, swimming, hiking, picnicking, and wildlife viewing.

SCUBA DIVING

Did you know that Lake Pleasant Regional Park is known for having some of the best inland scuba diving in the western states? With an abundance of rock walls, canyons and underwater structures, like the old Waddell Dam, scuba divers are bound to find something new to explore at the lake!

The lake contains approximately 10,000-acres of surface water which can reach up to depths of 260 ft. when the lake is full, and offers a wide variety of terrain for all levels of scuba divers.

FISHING

The Arizona Game and Fish Commission began to stock fish in Lake Pleasant Regional Park after the building of the main dam and completion of the diversion dam. To date, Lake Pleasant is home to 12 species of fish.

Every year, Lake Pleasant Regional Park hosts several fishing tournaments. A fishing license is required and may be obtained at most sporting goods stores or through the Arizona Game and Fish department.

Motorized watercrafts must be launched from the 10 Lane or 4 Lane boat ramps - no launching from the shoreline.

DIFFICULTY RATING: EASY WHOLE IN THE ROCK, PAPAGO PARK

What better way to ogle the uncanny red sandstone formations of Papago Park than hiking around (and inside) them? The smaller two of these beautiful buttes can be explored on an easy dirt loop that starts in the West Park parking lot, accessible from Galvin Parkway. Then, drive across the street to the park's east side for a quick climb up rocky stairs to peek out from the cave-like Hole-in-the-Rock, a popular landmark (and prehistoric solstice-tracking tool) with views of an oasis and distant city skyline.

Distance: 2.3-mile loop (Double Butte) and 825 feet out and back (Hole-in-the-Rock)

625 N Galvin Pkwy,
Phoenix, AZ 85008

DIFFICULTY RATING: MEDIUM PINNACLE PEAK, PINNACLE PEAK PARK

A groomed pathway provides easy footing for soaking up the scenic views, spotting wildlife and greeting passerby—it's a popular trail, and not without reason. The incline to 2,750 feet is gradual and well-maintained, and while you won't be able to clamber on the true "pinnacle" of granite at the top, the trail still offers raw panoramic views of the desert unfolding below.

Distance: 3.5 miles out and back
26802 N 102nd Way,
Scottsdale, AZ 85262

DIFFICULTY RATING: HARD ECHO CANYON, CAMELBACK MOUNTAIN

The summit of Camelback is one of the highest hikes in Phoenix and arguably the best view you can achieve here on two feet. That means this trail stays very busy, but don't let it deter you from tackling the Phoenix landmark. Echo Canyon Trail climbs from the north side parking lot to a height of 2,704 feet (and we mean climbs – you'll need your hands free for 1,200 feet of elevation gain, some scrambling up a steep slope at the beginning and hopping boulders near the peak). Save some time to relax and enjoy the 360-degree beauty at the top.

Distance: 2.4 miles out and back
